

Figure: Total revenues for most of the major pharmaceutical companies have been surprisingly flat since about 2008. This is in spite of the fact that the prices of almost all brand name medications have gone up dramatically in the US.

The twelve companies are: Abbot/AbbVie, Amgen, AstraZeneca, Bristol-Myer Squibb, Eli Lilly, Gilead Sciences, GlaxoSmithKline, Johnson & Johnson, Merck, Novartis, Pfizer and Roche. Together, these twelve companies earned roughly 40% of the world's total pharmaceutical revenue in recent years.
